Former Because of a Foul and Latter Because Snow's Owner H25 an Interest in Him-Esoterie Takes Sunshine Stakes-Three Favorites Successful.

After the finish of the Sunshine Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, at Brighton Beach yesterday there was a mix-up which caused a long delay before the red board was hoisted, pending the disqualificaboard was holsted, pending the disqualinea-tion of W. H. Snyder's Snow, a 30 to 1 shot, who ran second, and W. B. E. Lockwood's Deviltree, 60 to 1, the third horse. Snow, with Bullman up, took the lead from King's Daughter, 7 to 2, and Meteor at the end of the far turn. As he rushed down the stretch he bore in and jammed Senator McCarren's Washess toward the rail. It looked as if Voorhees toward the rail. It looked as if Snow would be the winner, but suddenly George B. Hill's Esoteric, 8 to 1, came from nowhere under a hard ride from Willie Knapp and took the race in a smashing finish by half a length from Snow, who was a length and a half before Deviltree, with Voorhees a head back. To many it looked as if Voorhees was third instead, but this view of the situation was obtained at an angle. The situation was obtained at an angle. The stewards, acting on O'Neill's protest, dis-qualified Snow and also Deviltree, as W. H. Snyder owns a third interest in the latter, a disqualification under the rules covering all the horses in which one man has a share of ownership. This change placed Voorhees second, but as the judges had only placed the first four horses as usual, it was necessary to send to the press stand to find out the fifth, who turned out to be Phidias, the favorite, to whom third money was given. Rockaway Beats Bryn Mawr at Polo.

CEDARHURST, L. I., July 17 .- Through the splendid work of Rene La Montagne, Jr., backed up by their team mates, the Rock-away Hunting Club four defeated the Bryn Mawr Polo Club of Philadelphia here to-day. The match was without handicaps, for the Rockaway Ladies' Challenge Cup, won once by Meadow Brook, twice by Westchester Country Club, twice by Bryn Mawr and once previously by Rockaway. The cup has to be won three times before it becomes the property of any organization.

Championship polo was shown from the start, the Philadelphians being badly beaten. Men and ponies suffered from the heat, and changes of mounts and time out prolonged the game until it was dark. The score: Rockaway Hunting Club 11% goals: Bryn Mawr Polo Club, 3 goals. The teams lined up as follows:

Rockaway Hunting Club—1, Rene La Montagne, Jr.; 2, John E. Cowdin; 3, Foxhall P. Keene, captain; back, Daniel Chauncey, Jr.

JOCKEY GEORGE ODOM RETIRES

CAN NO LONGER REDUCE TO MAKE REQUIRED WEIGHT.

Day of Hard Luck for W. H. Snyder-Tod Riegn's Case Operations in Betting Ring Jack Martin Rides Two Winners Murphy May Judge Here Next Scason.

George Odom, the veteran lockey, an-nounced yesterday that he had retired permanently from the saddle and would devote his time in future to training horses of his own and those of other turfmen. Odom turned over his jockey's badge to the secretary of the Brighton track and received an owner's badge instead. From the very be-ginning of this season Odom found it a difficult matter to reduce to the required weight. For this reason it was impossible for him to secure steady engagements, and when he rode Blandy in the Realization at Sheepshead Bay he told his friends that the mount was probably his last. Yesterday the jockey weighed 131 pounds stripped. That seemed to be the most convincing argument that it was time for him to retire. He has had a long and honorable career, has ridden many famous horses and in his new venture he will have the good will of all horsemen who have come in contact with him in times past. If Deviltree was disqualified with Snow because the latter fouled and W. H. Snyder had an interest in each, why were they not coupled in the betting? This question was asked by many who saw 30 to 1 against Snow and 60 to 1 against Deviltree. The latter was an added starter, running in the name of W. B. E. Lockwood, but Snyder owns a third interest in this fleet daughter of the famous Imp. Snyder, by the way, had hard luck all the afternoon. Whorler, who carried his colors in the first race, was a few inches out of the money. Hundreds who saw the finish from the lawn in front of the betting ring were ready to lay odds that Whorler finished in the money. Tyron, also owned by Snyder, was heavily backed by his friends in the fifth race, only to run third.

The fact that a complimentary badge was taken from Charley Heney, a member of the Mete' governing committee, at the track gate on Saturday caused much comment among the bookmakers yesterday, for, according to their story, Heney some time ago notified all the Mets that under no circumstances should they or any of their clerks make use of free badges. It was reported yesterday that the stew-ards of the Jockey Club have Tod Sloan's case under consideration. Sloan is a daily visitor at the track, where his friends have used all the influence at their command in his behalf. It seems hardly fair to keep him on the ground longer, inasmuch as no charges of wrongdoing have ever been brought against him, and he has already been per-mitted to ride on the tracks of the American Turf Association in the West.

Francis Trevelyan, who has been a leading official of the American Turf Association, by the way, got here from the West yesterday and will sail for England for a vacation on Saturday. Trevelyan was busy shaking hands all the afternoon with his numerous friends at the track. He says that the Western Jockey Club has been beaten to a stand-still by the Corrigan organization and that there is no longer any doubt about the control there is no longer any doubt about the control of the Western turf. Trevelyan says that the best horse in the West is Lady Savoy, a threeyear-old filly by Kingston, who recently won the Latonia Oaks in splendid style. The best two-year-old in that part of the country, in his opinion, is Sir Huon, a coit by Faisetto.
John E. Madden is in town, awaiting the service of papers in several lawsuits cropping out of his divorce case. All of his horses except Timber, who has a stake epgagement at the Beach, were shipped to Saratoga yesterday.

If Buttons starts to-day he will be ridden by the veteran Marty Bergen, who will train and ride for Joe Marrone, the wealthy contractor, who has been making the selling race war at the local tracks hum lately. Bergen is still very light and says that he believes he can hold his own with any of the crack Jockeys of the present time.

Those who cleaned up with Regal in the first race yesterday were Bill Jackman, Fred Calhoun, Mark Riordan and the Lichtensteins. Bob McGiven, Julius Frank, Frank Farrell, Joe Cassidy, the Sullivans and other Tammany men burned up bets on Gray Lad, whose chances were killed by the start. Jesse Lewisohn's agents were all over the ring betting on Vagary who was backed from 100 down to 20 to 1. Eole Pearsall also had a bet on this horse, who finished nowhere. Eddie McDonald, Joe Murphy and Morris Hayman bet liberally on Whorler. Charley Cash and Dick Brown took Major Peiham. Tom Costigan preferred Old England and L. Curtis took a chance with Capt. Forsee at long odds.

All kinds of money was placed on Colonial Girl in the third race by such operators as Joe Murphy, Al Koenigsberg, Bill Jackman, the Lichtensteins, Frank McDougaff, John Coleman, Charley Fox, Alex Shelds, Joe Guthorn, J. O'Brien, Joe Rose and Frank Moore. Eugenia Burch was backed by Joe Hayman, J. Clark and Charley (ash. Eole Pearsall and Bob Tucker went to Migraine.

The wise men let Esoteric run unbacked in the Sunshine Stakes, but George Hill and his friends won a neat bunch from the books. Dave Johnson dropped $3,000 on Phildias, with Eddie McDonald and the Lichtensteins in the same boat. King's Daughter was well backed by Max Blumenthal, Bill Porter and George Wheelock, who lost $2,300. Frank Tyler and Morris Stakek. Tom Costigan played High Chance and Joe Rose bet on Meteor.

well backed by Max Bunnenthal, Bill Porter and George Wheelock, who lost $2,500. Frank lyler and Morris Stack. Tom Costigan played High Chance and Joe Rose bet on Meteor.

Alan-a-Dale enabled Eole Pearsall, Eddie McDonald, John Steimer, Moe Dinkelspiel and the Western cliquic to cash extensively in the fifth event. Billy Hayes split $500 on Palmbearer at 25 and 8. Dave Johnson lost another $3,000 waser on Tyron, who was also played by Joe Rose, Mark Riordan, John Evans and Sol Lichtenstein.

Billy Dubois had $1,500 on Heetor, the winner of the last race at an average of 6 to 1 Sol Lichtenstein and Frank McDougal headed the wise play on Remington, while George Wheelock got rid of $2,500 on Sandringham Belle, with Eole Pearsall and Joe Rose showing a similar preference.

It was said last night that Joseph Murphy, who usually acts as Judge at Buffalo and Bennings, as well as on the Western tracks, will officiate in the stand as one of the judges on all of the local tracks next season. In view oy-esterday's mixing in the Stakes the Jockey Club may ask the judges in future to call the first hve horses instead of Jour.

H. K. Knapp will act as steward at Brighton for the rest of the meeting, taking the place of J. G. Follansbee.

The dam of Esoteric is Flyaway, who was unbeaten as a two-year-old. She is by George Kinney. Esoteric was so far out of yesterday's race at the start that hobody believed he had ac chance to win. But the way he made up the lost ground and his cosolute finish stamped him a high class oil. Pasadena won the Sunshine Stakes last year.

AUTOS CLIMB TO CLOUDS. Bad Weather Renders Ascent of Mount

. Washington Disappointing. MOUNT WASHINGTON, N. H., July 17 .- Abominable weather conditions to-day made record trials in the Mount Washington climb slow and uninteresting from the standpoint of time. The road from base to summit was enveloped in thick clouds practically all day, while a drizzling rain took the heart out of the drivers and made the following of the road highly problematical. During the early part of the afternoon the clouds cleared about the base of the mountain, but the peak was dreary and cold all day.

Cars used chains without exceptions and plowed up the road, making it more and more difficult to approximate the time made by Harry Harkness last year of 24 minutes 373-5 seconds. The best time made to-day was that of Charles Soules, whose Pope-Toledo car, rated at 30 horse-power, achieved the summit of the mountain in 29 minutes 37 2-5

Although it had been planned to start th climbing at 6 o'clock in the morning and a number of officials were at the Glen House all night preparing for this early start, there was too much weather for a start at that

At four minutes after 8 a Maxwell car, in charge of C. W. Kelsey, started from the base and made the run in 1 hour 19 minutes, considered good time for a 16 horse-power car. Kelsey's time was unofficial, according to the Kelsey's time was unofficial, according to the referee at the start, but Kelsey did not understand it and thought he was running in competition. He started again in this event and lowered his time to 1:00:27.

The Pierce car, piloted by Percy Pierce, was started at 9:32 and reached the summit at 10:10:45, the elapsed time being 36 minutes 45 seconds. Pierce pronounced the conditions impossible, and largely on his report the starting officials called the climb off until afternoon.

the starting officials called the climb off until afternoon.

The running was started at 1 o clock, the light touring runabouts getting away first. The best time among the light cars was made by the Stanley steamer, driven by F. O. Stanley, who reached the top in 31 minutes 6 seconds. The Reo car, R. M. Owen, driver, made a good run in 52 minutes 25 seconds, but it was protested by two competitors on the ground that it did not run in touring form, according to conditions, as its tonneau and platform were removed. The Columbia car, driven by W. W. Burke, broke its shaft near the seven mile post and had to return to the base. A thousand iguests were at the Summit House during the morning, but the blustering wind and storm drove them away in the early afternoon.

The work of the officials at various points was done under the most discouraging conditions. Summary:

AMERICAN CAR WINS.

Charles G. Roebling Defeats His Brother in Auto Road Race.

TRENTON, N. J., July 17.—Charles G. Roebling and his brother, Ferdinand W. Roeling, established a new automobile record between this city and Spring Lake yesterday and at the same time settled a friendly con-troversy between them as to the relative merits of American and foreign cars.

Charles G. Roebling has always been an adherent of the American car, asserting that this country can produce an article equal to any foreign product. To demonstrate this he had had a co horse-power Locomobile built to order. This he tried for the first built to order. This he tried for the first time last week. F. W. Roebling, who is an advocate of foreign machines, also has a new Clement-Bayard by which he swears.

The two brothers decided to try out their new cars yesterday in a trial spin to Spring Lake. C. G. Reobling in his Locomobile covered the distance in 1 hour and 18 minutes, and F. W. Roebling in his Clement Bayard came in 2 minutes later. The previous record for the run was 1 hour and 32 minutes.

Of course the new automobile law of New Jersey was shattered by the performance, but this was looked upon as of little imporantce.

SHUT OUT BY PIRATE CREW HEADED BY DEACON PHILLIPPE.

Wagner Lefts a Ball Into the Left Field Seats for a Homer-Brooklyns as Runless as the Champions-Reds Win Game From Quakers—St. Louis Loses.

A trio of whitewashes graced the proceedings in the National League yesterday. The Pittsburgs stung the Champions in that heartless manner, the Chicagos blanked the Brooklyns and the Cincinnatis hung a necklace of ciphers around the necks of the un-willing Quakers. The Cardinals scored, but lost to the Bostons. The results: Pittsburg, 8; New York, O.

PITTSBURG, 3: NEW YORK (N. L.), 0. One of Deacon Phillippe's team mates said yesterday that that graceful and accomplished maestro of the slab did not like a ho Possibly the speaker meant his observation to be played with a copper, for the blazing sun bothered Phillippe so much, that he held the New Yorks down to four singles, and a shutout went along with the Cham-pions' meagre disbursement of hits. Phillippe may not like a hot day, but, inasmuch as he made the New Yorks walk the plank into waters deep and runless, it is dreadful to contemplate what he would have done on a cool day. Probably the New Yorks would four. Ames pitched a creditable game, but Phillippe pitched a better. Ames harvested his usual generous crop of strikeouts, but there were two times when a man was on base that Ames's formula for preventing hits falled, and each hit sent in a run. Good fielding was the rule, Devlin and Leach making the best plays, but the gossamer hitting and the sizzling weather reduced the ginger supply.

plays, but the gossamer hitting and the sizzling weather reduced the ginger supply.

Clymer was put out of the game in the first inning for kicking. He struck out, and being unable to accept his late in silence argued himself to the clubhouse. While he was stalking across the arid prairie Fred Clarke was Jawing away at the umpire because of the dispossession of Clymer. Patsy Flaherty was on the coaching line at the time, and when Clymer had faded from view Patsy was sent to the bench by the umpire. That was about all the vocal trimmings there were to the game, except that McGann broke out with a kick later and was ordered to his position by McGraw.

The Pittsburgs scored once in the second inning. Brain hammered a single to left and came around on Ritchey's two bagger to the same locality. The New Yorks had three men on bases in the fourth, but not two at once. Ritchey put out the entire side, and Dennis Peltz, whose whip was in rare form threw out two of them stealing. Donlin singled and was out stealing, McGann was hit and was forced by Mertee, and Mertes was blotted out in an effort to steal. In the previous inning Gilbert had bunted safely, only to be thrown out at third in trying to reach that bag on Browne's hit to left. Klem motioned that Gilbert was safe, but Johnstone, whose place it was to make the decision, said out, and Gilbert certainly looked to be out, being tagged by Brain as he was sliding in.

Beaumont hit eafely in the eighth inning and stole second. The next two batters went out, but the eminent Mr. Wagner broke up the game. A batts as expressive an article in Wagner's huge hooks as a fan in the hands of a firtatious lady. Sometimes as if it were a thing with which to break the ball in two On this dire occasion he handled it in a bored sort of way, thereby masking his real feelings.

A ball came along to suit him, swish went his baton, and the ball went kiting into the left field seats. The score:

CLEVELAND, 4; NEW YORK (A. L.), 1. CLEVELAND, July 17.—The New Yorks lost the third game of the series with Cleveland to-day by the score of 4 to 1. Powell pitched good ball, but the errors behind him came in bunches and at the wrong time. He relieved Hogg in the second inning when the bases were occupied by men who had

With one gone, Powell struck out Bernhard and Williams threw out Vinson. Hogg walked two men in the first without damage. Turner scored in the fourth on Keeler's fumble of his fly and Carr's hit, and the latter counted when Conroy muffed Vinson's fly. In the next, Bay made the circuit on a pass, a sacrifice and Bradley's double.

In the eighth Carr reached second on Fultz's error and Buelow's hit. Williams doubled in the seventh and scored on Fultz's single. New York had men on third in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings, but could not score. Kahl's single in the fifth was due to Powell's failure to cover first base.

Conroy fielded the ball in pienty of time but could not beat the runner to the base. Fultz, Turner and Bradley carried off the fielding honors. Fultz's grand running catch of Bradley's fly in the third retired the side and saved a run. Conroy was again at first and Keeler in left field, while Orth played the right garden.
